MACOM Acquires Aeroflex's Diode Business from Cobham

Strengthens MACOM's Leading Position in High-Performance RF and Microwave Diodes

LOWELL, Mass.--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- M/A-COM Technology Solutions Holdings, Inc. (NASDAQ: MTSI) (MACOM), a leading supplier of high-performance analog RF, microwave, millimeterwave and photonic semiconductor products, today announced that it has acquired 100% of Aeroflex's diode business for $38 million in cash. The business had approximately $37 million in revenue for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2014.

Expected highlights of the transaction include:

- | Extending MACOM's leadership position in RF and microwave diodes;
- | Complementing existing product portfolio with addition of JAN-certified diodes and transistors;
- | Increasing scale and opportunity to drive COGS efficiencies; and
- | Accretion to MACOM's earnings per share once fully integrated.

Commenting on the transaction, John Croteau, President and Chief Executive Officer of MACOM, stated, "We expect that Aeroflex's business will be extremely complementary to our existing product portfolio and further extend MACOM's leading position in high-performance diodes. We believe that the transaction will provide meaningful scale advantages for our diode business, and that once their facilities are fully integrated, MACOM will be able to drive beneficial COGS efficiencies that will make the transaction accretive to MACOM's non-GAAP operating margins and earnings per share."

MACOM funded the purchase price of the acquisition with available cash.

Ropes & Gray LLP acted as legal counsel to MACOM. Jaeckle Fleischmann & Mugel, LLP acted as legal advisor to Cobham.
